Soldier Bonus Bill Goes To House Today For Action

Republicans of House Ways and Means Committee Approve Measure

FIGHT LOOMS ON CASH PLAN
Opponents of Bill Will Argue Country's Financial System Will Be Affected

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—The soldier bonus bill was approved Tuesday by the house ways and means committee. Republicans introduced the measure Tuesday afternoon in the house.

As it went to the house it was practically unchanged except that no payment will be made to a man of service who died since the war.

Opponents in congress Tuesday were seeking to have President Harding oppose the new bonus-insurance loan bill, framed after much effort by the Republicans of the house ways and means committee.

STILL URGE TAX
They claim the plan of having the banks loan up to 50 per cent on the proposed service men's certificates will seriously interfere with the nation's financial system and are urging the president to stand by his previous declaration that the bonus must be postponed unless paid by a sales tax.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, according to reliable information, is opposed to the loan features of the plan for the same reason opponents in congress advance and may present his views to President Harding at the cabinet meeting Tuesday.

The farm clause has been altered to guard against land grabs from those outside the benefits of the bill. Now it is written so that nobody other than a former service man can get a foot of land in the soldier farm tracts.

SHOOTING ENDS ITALIAN QUARREL

Merchant is Lured From Home—Two Men Who Bought Store Are Held

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago.—Two suspects were held Tuesday in connection with the probe into the murder of Anacleto Benedetti, wealthy Italian merchant and cousin of Robert Croce, state's attorney.

The men—Frank Salerno and James Carlini—purchased a store from Benedetti and quarreled with the victim over payments.

Benedetti was lured from his home by a mysterious person. He was standing at a corner waiting for a taxi, when an auto drew up beside him, the slayer stepped into and after talking for a few minutes in a loud voice with Benedetti, shot him.

Adolph Rossmann, a witness to the slaying identified Salerno as the firer of the first shots.

MINERS WILL LET U. S. STOP STRIKE

Unions "Sit Tight" Waiting for Conference Call With Operators

By United Press Leased Wire
Indianapolis, Ind.—The coal miners union was "sitting tight" Tuesday awaiting results of the government's effort to avert a strike April 1.

It was learned the miners are not making any move in their wage controversy with the mine owners, except to conduct a strike vote, pending outcome of the government's invitation asking operators to meet union representatives in conference.

Officers of the United Mine workers were silent, fearing any utterance might tend to disrupt negotiations which the department of labor is carrying on with the operators. The operators have already rejected two invitations of President John L. Lewis.

CAN'T PUT HIS CAMPAIGN SLOGAN ON BALLOT SHEET

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison.—John J. Kleist, Milwaukee, socialist candidate for justice of the Wisconsin supreme court against Burr W. Jones, candidate for reelection, cannot have his campaign slogan "Justice for the People" placed on the official ballot under his name, Attorney General William J. Morgan ruled Tuesday.

The opinion delivered to Secretary of State Elmer W. Hall, officially in charge of election procedure, was that party labels cannot be placed for supreme justice and that the secretary of state must place under each name the legend "non-partisan judiciary."

NEARLY TWO BILLION IS PAID BY GERMANS

By United Press Leased Wire
Paris.—Germany has paid, in cash and in kind, from the armistice to Dec. 31, 1921, the sum of 6,487,866,000 gold marks (approximately $1,620,000,000) the reparations commission announced in a communique Tuesday.

Government Experts Will Help You Save Your Damaged Trees

Post-Crescent Has 500 Copies of Government Bulletin on Tree Surgery Which It Will Give Away Free.

Do you want the advice and assistance of America's greatest horticulturists in saving the trees which were damaged in the recent sleet and rain storm? You have been warned by experts not to tamper with the damaged trees unless you know exactly what you are doing and what the Post-Crescent is in a position to help you.

Arrangements were made with the United States department of agriculture, through David G. Classon, representative in congress from the Ninth district for 500 booklets on "Tree Surgery," prepared by some of the best known horticulturists in the country. These booklets will be given away free by the Post-Crescent.

Copies may be obtained by calling at the Post-Crescent office or they will be sent to any address by mail if a 2-cent stamp to cover the cost of postage, is sent with the request.

Only 500 booklets were sent here which means the supply will not last long. If you want one of them and you surely should have one if your trees were damaged, it is advisable that you send in your request as soon as possible. Only one copy will be given any one person because of the limited supply.

Local "tree surgeons" will find the remedy for practically every damage caused by the storm fully covered in the booklet.

How to treat broken branches and broken tops will probably be the first problem to attract the attention of the reader. Broken branches, if badly broken or if very large require special attention and study and the reader will be told about it.

In cutting off a large branch, the expert says, the saw should be first used for making a cut on the underside of the limb about a foot or 18 inches from the trunk. The next cut should be made on the upper side of the limb about the same place. When the branch bends and touches the ground the work of actually severing it at the trunk may be safely undertaken. The saw should be held tightly against the trunk, first making a cut on the under side of the branch for about one-third of the trunk. Then the saw is moved and introduced on the upper side of the branch, again being held tightly to the trunk. In this way the limb may be removed without any danger of its falling.

RAIL WORKERS TO COMBAT WAGE CUTS

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee.—Information having leaked out that railroad companies are seeking additional cuts in wages, railway brotherhoods throughout the country are organizing to combat them. The cuts, according to A. F. Whitney, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, in an address here Monday night.

"It is true wages were increased in 1920," Whitney said, "but the interstate commerce commission straightened out the increased rates and freight rates. This increase netted the companies more than $120,000,000 while the additional wages amounted to but $60,000,000."

CAN PERFORATE LICENSE PLATE IF HE CHOOSES

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison.—Paul V. Holbeck, Milwaukee, is experimenting with an illuminated automobile license plate to take the place of the required seal on the rear of his automobile. He wants to punch holes in it and recently he asked L. A. Gordon, assistant secretary of state, whether it would be illegal or would invalidate the expenditure of his $10 license fee if he perforated the plate. An opinion Tuesday by the attorney general's department advised that the license plate can be perforated to Holbeck's heart's desire, "as long as the number can be readily and distinctly seen."

NEW BUILDING TO BE ERECTED ON COLLEGE-AVE.

Oshkosh Company Will Build Two Story Building at Superior-St. Corner

Another large building is to be erected on West College-ave, within the next 60 days, it was announced Tuesday by the Gibson Auto Exchange and the Gibson Tire and Repair Co., both of Oshkosh, which have purchased the site. The new building will be a two-story structure, located at the corner of Superior and College-ave, from the Green Bay and Mississippi Canal Co. Work on the building, which is to be a two-story brick garage, will be started at once and it will be ready for occupancy within 60 days.

The Green Bay and Mississippi Canal Co. purchased the property some months ago with the intention of erecting an office building on it but it now is understood the company has leased office quarters in the new Insurance building.

Between $25,000 and $30,000 will be invested in the new structure, according to G. J. Schwab, local representative of the Oshkosh companies. The building will have a frontage of 40 feet on College-ave, and will be about 100 feet long. It will be used exclusively as an auto exchange, tire repair shop and tire sales room. Mr. Schwab, who probably will have charge of the new plant, formerly was connected with Irving Zuehlke, music dealer. He has been identified with the Oshkosh company for several years but not actively.

MORGAN STILL LEAVES SCHOOL BOARD IN DARK

Board of Education Confronted By Vexatious Questions Despite Opinion

CARY PREPARES SYNOPSIS

Consolidation of School Districts by Council Creates New Problem

Although the opinion prepared by William J. Morgan, attorney general of Wisconsin, for the board of education has cleared up many of the legal tangles in which Appleton's school system is involved, there still are many problems to be solved, according to Attorney Paul V. Cary, a member of the board, who prepared a synopsis of the opinion, with many illuminating comments, which was read at a meeting of the board Monday afternoon. Another meeting will be held at 7:30 Friday evening to again consider the opinion and the action which should be taken.

Mr. Cary said the attorney general is of the opinion that there are five school districts in Appleton and that one district is made up of the entire city, created for high school purposes. The board of education, with the approval of the state superintendent of education, may "establish" one or more junior high schools but the mere "establishment" of them does not provide the site nor the money for their construction—that is a matter which still rests with the common council.

Mr. Cary goes into the possible results of a consolidation of school districts and shows that if all five districts should be made one district, without changing the present school system, that the high school would be under the jurisdiction of a board of three members which will include the mayor of the city, the clerk and the director of the consolidated district. The board now includes the mayor and the clerks and directors of the four districts, making nine in all.

The attorney general's opinion also leaves the board in doubt as to the proper means of securing a referendum on the question of changing the school system. He suggests that that may be a matter for the city attorney to decide when it is brought before the council.

Following is Mr. Cary's summary of the attorney general's opinion:

"First: He holds that there are five school districts in the City of Appleton; namely, the four grade school districts, and the 'high school district' made up of the entire city, in which the Appleton high school is a 'district free high school.' And that our high school now exists under Chapter 562, Laws 1917.

"Second: He holds that one or more junior high schools can be established under section 40.635 of the statutes.

"Third: (a) He holds that there need be no general city election before such junior high schools may be established.

"Fourth: He holds that the junior high schools can be established merely by resolution of the board of education approved by the state superintendent.

"That such junior high schools can be established under section 40.635 and section 40.45 of the statutes.

"Fifth: He holds that it will not be necessary before such junior high schools may be established to have the four independent common school districts now existing united. That the city of Appleton is itself a free high school district, and as such district it may act alone on the matter of establishing junior high schools.

"As above noted, the establishing of the junior high school must be done by resolution of the board of education, approved by the state superintendent, in accordance with sections 40.635 and 40.45 of the statutes.

"Sixth: (a) He holds that, neither under section 40.675 nor any other

U. S. TO KEEP MONEY AWAY FROM MARS

Government Now Loans to Europe Only for Purposes of Rehabilitation

TO MAKE BANKS COOPERATE

Only Reservoir of Capital Left in World is to be Conserved for Peace

By David Lawrence, Copyright, 1922, by Post Pub. Co., Washington.—The United States government is taking steps to prevent American money from being used wastefully in Europe and to compel foreign peoples who seek loans here to promise to use capital for reproductive purposes only.

The full significance of what the American government insists is not a political but an economic defensive measure is just becoming apparent.

With the failure of European countries to balance their budgets because they are spending too much money for the maintenance of armies, there has developed a tendency on the part of municipalities as well as central governments abroad to finance themselves locally on the expectation that they can always make up their deficits by borrowings through American banking concerns.

USE MORAL INFLUENCE
This process, however, will be abruptly halted by the United States government through the use of its moral influence and its power of publicity. The views of the administration are summed up by Herbert Hoover as follows:

"America is today the remaining great reservoir of surplus capital, and we must remain strong and conserve the rightful use of this capital if the world is to recover. We will need much of it for the rebuilding of our homes and our public utilities, stagnated today through inequalities of readjustment between industries.

But our surplus even then is greater than our needs, and it would be a disaster if it were dissipated in wasteful expenditures abroad.

"The furnishing of raw materials, the construction of transportation facilities, public utilities, factories and work throughout the world, is a use for American capital that blesses both the recipient and the donor.

According to Shirley Cox, dam tender here, the level of the Fox river has not been increased by the melt in snow and the rain of the last week, but is looking for high water until in April when the snow melts very rapidly.

CHEESE DROP WAS ARBITRARY MOVE

Cut of 3 Cents Was Unjustified, L. G. Foster Said—Market Recovers

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison.—The three cent drop in the cheese market, which occurred Feb. 7 and was just reported in the market Monday, was entirely arbitrary and unjustified, L. G. Foster, deputy marketing commissioner said Tuesday.

There was no excess of supply, but rather a deficit, on account of the transportation team resulting from the sleet and the storm of the past Monday, Foster said. The ordinary loss to the farmers of $50,000 in the week's shipment was increased to around $120,000 last week because the opening up of transportation facilities made larger shipments necessary.

The demand was stationary or nearly so during the period just before and during the drop, Foster pointed out, so that the cut in prices was arbitrary and a detriment to the dairy industry.

These Tuesday ranged from 19 1/2 to 19 3/4, according to reports here.

Air Tank Blast Wrecks Building in Kansas City—Search Ruins for Bodies

By United Press Leased Wire
Kansas City, Mo.—Four persons were killed and twelve injured when an air tank explosion destroyed the street car barn at Ninth and Brighton streets here Tuesday.

The explosion in the compressing room of the barn, shook buildings for blocks. It blew out between 30 and 40 feet of the barn walls several yards into the street.

The body of one man decapitated was picked up.

Police reserves, all fire apparatus and ambulances were rushed to the scene.

The fire was practically out at 8:30 o'clock. Firemen were still searching the ruins for victims.

Ammonia Yegg In Skirts Fails To Get $15,000

By United Press Leased Wire
Pittsburg, Pa.—Dressed as a woman, a bandit squirted an ammonia gun in the face of Charles Lazaro, Homewood National bank messenger at Sixth and Liberty here Tuesday and attempted to escape with a satchel containing $15,000 in cash. Lazaro, half blinded, managed to retain his grip on the man who later gave his name as Joseph Lindsay, age 23, Homewood.

MINOR FLOOD DOES DAMAGE IN FOND DU LAC

Telephones and Gas Service is Cut Off When River Overflows

Fond du Lac.—Fond du Lac Tuesday is cleaning up after a spring freshet that inundated portions of the residence districts for a few hours late Monday. Pedestrian traffic was temporarily impeded on some streets several hundred cellars flooded, 2,000 phones rendered useless and gas service in one district cut off by breaking of the cables. Light and power service was maintained throughout, the business portion of the city untouched, and actual damage in homes was negligible.

The trouble started about 4 o'clock when the banks of the Fond du Lac river in the portion of the city and of DeNeuve creek to the east, broke over their banks, overrunning adjacent streets. A few houses were surrounded by pools of water and many basements flooded. Bridges over the river were battered by ice cakes, but the prompt dynamiting prevented any serious injury.

The water began to subside about 11 o'clock and Tuesday morning conditions were back to normal.

STORM IN EAST TAKES 6 LIVES; TOWNS SUFFER

South Carolina is Hit by Tornado and Rain Storm Leaving Havoc in Path

By United Press Leased Wire
Aiken, S. C.—Six persons were killed and about 40 injured by a tornado and rainstorm which swept the western portion of the state early Tuesday, according to reports received here Tuesday afternoon.

Six dead and 25 injured were reported at Warrensville.

Fifteen were reported injured at Sifton.

Property loss will run high.

Both Warrensville and Sifton are cotton mill towns near here. Reports from the towns reported destroyed at Warrensville and ten at Sifton.

Wire communication was demoralized.

Relief workers, carrying medical and food supplies, have been dispatched to the towns.

Several injured, rushed here from Warrensville, are being treated in hospitals.

JUDGE GRAASS IS BOOMED TO TAKE CLASSON'S SEAT

Green Bay Circuit Judge Will be Urged to Become Candidate

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Green Bay.—A movement was launched here today to induce Circuit Judge Henry Graass to stand as a candidate for congress from the ninth district. The movement originated quietly some weeks ago, but was openly brought to the judge's attention. Sounding of the district by leaders of the Republican party is said to have met with such universal approval of Judge Graass for the nomination that it is understood the matter will be finally presented to him within the next few days.

The call for Judge Graass is wholly spontaneous and it is argued that he would make an exceedingly popular as well as an able representative.

Judge Graass is one of the leading jurists of Wisconsin and has been prominently under consideration for the supreme bench at different times.

When asked as to whether he would accept the nomination, Judge Graass declined to make a statement but it can be stated that in no sense is he a candidate for the honor. Even his close friends are in doubt as to whether he can be induced to run.

Judge Graass is an able speaker, a keen debater and is an extraordinary figure and is one of the most highly regarded judges that ever sat on the bench in this district.

The question in the suggestion of Graass for congress is whether he can be induced to give up an assured future on the bench and the practical certainty of occupying a place on the supreme court for honors in the political field.

Ask City To Hire Tree Surgeon To Repair Damage

Game Protective Association Asks Cooperation of City Officials

EXPERT FOR PARK TREES
City Engineer Arranges to Give Advice Designed to Save City's Beauty

Whether the city should take organized steps to protect the sylvan beauty of Appleton by directing the trimming of trees damaged by the storm or whether the work should be left entirely to the individual resident to do as he sees fit was the subject of debate Monday evening at an opening of the city council. No definite action was taken by the council. Council members seemed to feel it was up to the tree owners to repair the damage themselves.

The meeting was called by Mayor J. A. Hawes upon the suggestion of citizens. At the opening of the meeting of committee from Outagamie County Fish and Game Protective Association read the following resolutions which had been unanimously adopted at a recent meeting of the conservation committee of the association.

"Whereas the recent sleet storm has done a great deal of damage to the trees of this city and of the town of Appleton, and it is the duty of the city to take steps to protect the sylvan beauty of Appleton by directing the trimming of trees damaged by the storm or whether the work should be left entirely to the individual resident to do as he sees fit was the subject of debate Monday evening at an opening of the city council. No definite action was taken by the council. Council members seemed to feel it was up to the tree owners to repair the damage themselves.

"Part of the blame for this situation must be laid at the door of small towns themselves, and part to the physicians who are unwilling to give up the superficial advantages of city life."

"This convention would do well to start a 'back to the farm' movement for doctors."

"Therefore, be it resolved that the Outagamie Fish and Game Protective Association request that the city of Appleton, and the town of Appleton, take steps to protect the sylvan beauty of Appleton by directing the trimming of trees damaged by the storm or whether the work should be left entirely to the individual resident to do as he sees fit was the subject of debate Monday evening at an opening of the city council. No definite action was taken by the council. Council members seemed to feel it was up to the tree owners to repair the damage themselves.

"Whereas some comprehensive effort should be made to prune these trees and give them the necessary care to save them.

SMALL TRIAL IS DEFERRED AGAIN

By United Press Leased Wire
Waukegan, Ill.—Gov. Len Small will be tried on April 3 on charges of conspiracy to embezzle state funds. Small, whose trial was to have started Monday, asked a continuance in order that he could devote all his time to the 1922 road building campaign.

If I Were A Tree Surgeon

If I were a tree surgeon or could trim trees and do a better job than the average man I could do it. I could work I could do right now. Thousands of Appleton's beautiful shade trees were nearly ruined by the recent storm. Very few people can trim a tree and do it right. Like a person who is cut or injured they need expert attention of some one who can help to make them as good as they were before. I would not waste time going from one house to another telling people what I could do. I would telephone the Post-Crescent and insert a Want Ad for several days. After that I would have all the work I could attend to.

WANT CITY TO SECURE EXPERT TREE SURGEON

Council Hears Discussion of Subject—Hire Expert for

by apparent for a few years when the trees, if neglected, will die and decay.

Another suggestion was that the city hire a tree surgeon with offices in the city hall to give advice to residents and show them how to do the work.

FEAR SWINDLERS
Others said they thought it would be better to hire a tree surgeon and have him teach a class of local men.
The best pupils in the class would then be sent out in charge of crews. Unless the city take some action, it was said, swindlers would "work" the city and charge exorbitant prices for trimming trees, perhaps without a proper knowledge of how the work should be done.

The question of how far the city's authority extends in the present emergency was part of the discussion. Can the city hire an expert tree surgeon and have him trim trees and then charge property owners for this service? Can the city compel occupants of property to see that the trees fronting their property are properly trimmed? These were some of the questions raised. City Engineer Oscar F. Weissgerber gave as his opinion that the city could order the proper trimming of damaged trees merely as a measure of safety but its authority could extend no further.

The opinion was expressed by some that the task of trimming all the trees in Appleton is too great for the city to undertake and too expensive.
They expressed faith in the property owners and occupants to do the work properly if given assistance by a series of reliable articles on tree surgery in the local press.

EXPERT FOR CITY TREES
The city will employ a competent tree surgeon to properly care for trees in the city parks. It is possible that the man now employed in trimming the trees on the campus of Lawrence college will be chosen for this work. This will be under the direction of the street department. City Engineer Oscar F. Weissgerber announced that when a tree surgeon is employed the engineer's office will be prepared to give help and advice to residents in regard to trimming their trees.

Along with this announcement, residents were warned against hiring unreliable strangers to trim their trees. It is suggested that they consult the city engineer before permitting strangers to operate on their trees and perhaps charge excessive prices for faulty work.

breaking down and tearing a strip of bark from the trunk of the tree.
The process is described more in detail in the pamphlet.

Besides broken tops and branches the tree owners will have to deal with cases of splitting down of tree trunks and exposed places which have been stripped of bark. This is treated in detail in the bulletins.

Another tree disability which will have to be dealt with as a result of the storm is where branches have split down, exposing a cavity which has existed in the trunk. These will have to be properly excavated to remove all decay and then filled with cement properly mixed for this purpose. In some cases it may be necessary to bolt the trunk together before pouring in the cement. Long bolts passed through the trunk and properly secured will save the tree from further damage until it can overcome this disability, the bulletin says.

All these things and many others are covered very completely in the bulletins which may be had for the asking.

Monday Night

Preparations for a booster banquet is a preliminary to the next meeting of Oney Johnston post of the Amerimade at the March meeting Monday evening in Elk hall.

An elaborate entertainment program is to be arranged and efforts will be made to have the entire membership of the legion attend. Plans will be made to increase the membership and extend the work of the post.

Two men who devoted most of their time recently to the soldier fair and the state legion conference here Sat-recognition at the meeting. They are Howard Van Ooyen and William Dewsted.

An athletic program was discussed.

NATION IS GREAT ONLY IF ALL ITS UNITS ARE GREAT

Colvin B. Brown, Business Doctor, Speaks to Rotary and C. of C.

MUST BUILD COMMUNITY

Chamber of Commerce Warned to Include Trade Area in Its Activities

More than 100 Rotarians and members of Appleton Chamber of Commerce attended the luncheon in the French room of the Sherman house Tuesday noon at which an address was made by Colvin B. Brown, head of the organization service bureau of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

It was an encouraging message which Mr. Brown brought to Appleton. He spoke optimistically on the business outlook and stressed cheaper production and more of it as the quickest way out of the slough of depression. At the same time he pointed out a few of the things a community must look to if it is to grow and prosper.

After leaving Appleton Mr. Brown will speak before commercial bodies in several other cities in the state, including Berlin and Rhinelander. An extensive itinerary throughout the state had previously been prepared for him by Hugh G. Corbett, secretary of Appleton Chamber of Commerce, and this will be followed out by Mr. Brown.

HOLD WINNING HAND

When he arrived here it was Mr. Brown's plan to remain in the city all afternoon and meet the directors of Appleton Chamber of Commerce in a round table discussion Tuesday evening.

"America today holds a winning hand in the world game, but much depends upon the way she plays it," Mr. Brown said at the luncheon. "We have more than a third of all the gold in the world; our banking system has successfully withstood the greatest strain in its history; we have had fair crops; hundreds of millions have been voted for public improvements; there is an unprecedented demand for houses and buildings of all kinds."

"The cost of production is higher than it was before the war and is bound to remain higher, for it is only out of production that the world can pay interest on a war debt of 250 billions of dollars, not to speak of increased cost of government and a high cost of living and a higher standard of living to be maintained. If prices should get down below the cost of production no power can keep them there. When the period of deflation is over, buying will begin. There is nothing in the situation to lend discouragement."

BUSINESS DELEGATE

"The chamber of commerce of the United States represents business in an organized way. It is on guard at the national capital. Being a federation of chambers of commerce and trade associations it is in position to get the opinion of its organization members on business problems and legislation, make that opinion known to congress and obtain a hearing."

"Busy workshops, fertile fields and easy means of communication from place to place are some of the elements that make a nation great and a nation is but the sum total of its community units. Perhaps many of our national problems could be solved if we could break them up into just as many little pieces as there are well organized community units, leaving it to each to do its bit. This is one of the reasons why we need well organized and well conducted chambers of commerce in every city and town in the country."

BE GOOD CITIZENS

"There is a difference between being a good man and a good citizen, and one of the functions of every chamber of commerce is to furnish the people with an opportunity to express their citizenship in constructive counsel and action for the good of the community. Your community does not end with your municipal boundary lines. It extends onward and outward to cover the entire retail trade territory. It is the betterment of business, living and marketing conditions in that territory you should have in mind."

"Another subject demanding attention is transportation. It is the task of a transportation committee to study the transportation situation in the retail trade territory, ascertain what are the obstructions to the free flow of traffic and formulate plans for the removal of obstructions. Sometimes there will be found to be lack of deep water in a harbor, a sand bar in a navigable river, inadequate docking facilities, a ferry where a bridge ought to be, or insufficient railway, electric or motor truck service; but most of the obstructions to free flow of traffic are found to be the character and condition of the highways leading into the town."

VISION IDEAL CITY

"Industry, commerce and civic should all have a place in the community program. We should vision our city as we want it to be and as we are determined to make it be, and with this in mind we will be constantly striving to make the dream come true."

"The retail stores of a town are a most important asset and should be viewed in that light by the chamber of commerce. Looking upon the store as a community asset, the chamber of commerce should lend its aid to all movements for better merchandising, style shows, dollar day sales, pay up campaigns, exchange of credit information, trade excursions and salesmanship classes."

"America today is the creditor nation of the world. The spirit which helped win the war will help maintain peace at home and help restore order and ultimately prosperity to a stricken world. We may each do our bit in our own communities, remembering that the betterment we bring to ourselves we also bring to the rest of the nation."

MANY ROOFS LEAKING, ROOFING DEALERS SAY

According to roofing firms more roofs are leaking this month than were ever known before. This is due in many instances to inexperienced persons cutting through the roofs with axes and picks while removing snow and ice and to the rapid melting of snow which caused back water. A great many cellars in the Fifth and Sixth wards are flooded by severs backing water.

PLAN CAMPAIGN TO RAISE CHURCH FUND

"Every Member" Canvass to be Made by Memorial Presbyterian Church

Memorial Presbyterian church is completing arrangements for its "every member" canvass which will be staged next Sunday for the purpose of raising the church's part of the $14,500,000 which Presbyterians of the United States are to raise this year for benevolences.

A larger budget has been asked of the local church than has formerly been attempted. As a consequence more aggressive work has been planned for making the drive so that the quota can be raised. Practically every Presbyterian church in the land, with 2,700,000 members, will make this drive at the same time.

Every family connected with the church will be seen within three hours. To make the canvass so quickly, several teams have been named and are now enthusiastically completing their plans to do up the job in a hurry.

Men of the church will hold a get together banquet Friday night at the Y. M. C. A. and will then receive final instructions for making the canvass. At the same time individual offerings for the benevolence fund will be received.

WIRELESS FROM NEENAH TO PRESIDENT HARDING

Cornelius and William Quinn of Neenah, who operated a temporary wireless station in the Bergstrom Paper mill during the ice storm, have been honored by being selected to send relayed messages to President Harding from the governors of Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, and Iowa. The days on which these messages are to be forwarded are March 6, 7 and 8 and the messages sent by the Quinn brothers will go directly to the president since their apparatus has powerful sending machinery with which to reach Washington directly. The operators have been moving their apparatus from the names of their home on Sherry-st. where a new aerial is partially completed.

THE OPPOSITION TO THE BONUS

Whether we like to admit it or not, the truth, is as one of the speakers said at the American legion convention, that the real opposition to the bonus comes from organized wealth. The financial and large commercial interests of the country are fighting this expenditure. Their plea is that the country cannot afford it, that it will interfere with a return to normal business conditions, that it will impose an unjust burden on the people, meaning primarily themselves. It is an unfortunate position for big business to take, for the truth is of course that the country can pay the bonus and without any serious effects.

When organized wealth, therefore, opposes the bonus, it does so in a spirit of selfishness. Had the war continued another year, we would have been obliged to spend as much and perhaps more than the adjusted compensation will cost, and does anyone imagine this would not have been done without disaster to the nation and without unduly impeding a return to orderly business conditions and prosperity? The resources of the United States were scarcely touched in the burdens imposed by the war. Both the expenditures made and obligations contracted are a relatively small liability against American wealth. They can and will be handled without serious inconvenience to anyone. So far as actual sacrifice is concerned, the American people, as a body do not know what that word means. It was not required of them during the war, it is not required of them now, and there is no prospect that it will be required of them.

If adjusted compensation to the soldiers is right, it is right that it should be attended to now. If we had red-blooded American citizens in control of congress they would snap their fingers in the face of the organized opposition to the bonus and promptly enact the necessary legislation. The present spectacle at Washington is disheartening and humiliating. It shows such a complete servility to special interests and to political expediency that it is enough to disgust the service men themselves, even though they get the bonus. It is perfectly clear that if the congressional elections were not a few months off nothing would be done in the matter. As it is congress is all at sea and has been seized with acute cramp colic in a frantic attempt to do nothing while appearing to do something.

THE NATION'S GUARDIANS

Five hundred commanders and adjutants of American legion posts in Wisconsin have returned to their homes after conferring for two days on means of best serving their fellow veterans of the World war and the communities in which they live. These 500 young men are the cream of Wisconsin's contribution to the great American army; they are natural leaders, selected by the veterans themselves to pilot them through the shoals and rocks which beset so large and unwieldy an organization as the American legion. They are an intelligent lot of young fellows—these American legion leaders—men who are not to be stampeded by demagogues, or pulled into unwise action by radical leaders; nor are they of the type that is content to let well enough alone. They are old enough to be careful thinkers and yet young enough to be progressive.

The Grand Army of the Republic was an enduring organization because it did not confine itself to efforts to improve the lot of the ex-soldier, provide him with entertainment and hold reunions, but largely because it tried to be of community usefulness. Now the youthful American legion proposes to pick up these tasks where the veterans of the Civil war left off. Americanization work and community betterment are among the major projects of the legion, it was divulged at the conference here.

The public generally hears very little about these community movements, and a great deal of the efforts to secure federal aid for former service men. This is largely because officers of the legion at this moment are devoting most of their energy to improving the lot of the men who elected them but all the time they are working quietly and steadily on these projects of less immediate importance but of a more enduring nature. There is nothing of the sensational in the effort to make this a better nation and consequently it receives little publicity.

These veterans of the trenches and the training camps have a keen appreciation of the necessity for a strong faith in the government and strong bodies to back up this faith. Faith in and loyalty to the government are stimulated by the legion's citizenship plan which strives not only to make Americans out of the foreigners who come to our shores but to make better citizens out of Americans. The fact is the legion is paying more attention to Americanizing the American than the foreigner because it feels the American needs it most.

To build up strong bodies the legion is encouraging athletic activity and is offering medals to high school athletes. It wants young men to take a more active interest in athletics, not from a competitive standpoint but for building up their bodies.

These are among the community betterment movements with which the legion is identified. It is not merely a generalization work but a real effort to make Americans stronger and better citizens. It is the kind of work which should have the support of an appreciative public.

The future of this country is safe in the hands of young men like those who attended the conference here. They are not radicals in any sense of the word; neither are they hidebound conservatives. They are men with sane visions and the courage to fight for the things they want.

BROKERS

Failures of Wall street brokerage houses now total around half a hundred. The honest brokers are wondering what effect these failures will have on their future business.

Some think the speculative public will become afraid to trust anyone. Not so. Gamblers buck any game, even if they know it is crooked. They always have. They always will. One born every minute. Speculators may run to cover, but it will be only temporary. Like fish momentarily frightened when one of their number is pulled out by the line, they will soon return to the bait.

The Federal Trade commission is studying to prevent by legislation the operations of "financial wizards," who sell all sorts of fake stocks and swindles to the public. The losses incurred by the people through "get rich quick" gambles are estimated at $100,000,000 a year.

Enforcement of strict laws against confidence men would be effective, and should result in a saving of a large amount of money to the people, but good laws and rigorous enforcement would not do all. The people are credulous and they will conspire with swindlers to evade the law, in the hope of becoming wealthy. Neither, it seems, are warnings or losses strong enough to frighten investors.

The people need instruction in saving and investment. A propaganda should be conducted to educate the people that they cannot become rich by gambling, and that there are certain safe means of investment and certain institutions handling investments.

Civilian Army Reduced

While President Harding's Republican friends in Congress were talking about cutting down the army and the navy, no serious effort seems to be made to reduce the Federal civilian army of 50,000, which is double the prewar roll. In November, 1919, there were close to 917,000 Federal civilian employees, and five-sixths of the reductions which have brought the numbers to the present figures were made under the administration of that impractical idealist, Woodrow Wilson. One of Mr. Harding's chief pluckers was economy and the introduction of business methods in government, but in many cases the men are still doing the work of one. He evolved also a charming scheme, under the management of Walter F. Brown, one of those Ohio wonder-workers, by which the executive machinery was to be reorganized, expenses reduced and efficiency promoted. After nearly a year of deep Ohio incubation, said Brown is reported to have hit upon a scheme of magnificent reform.—BALTIMORE SUN (Ind. Dem.)

BREAKING UP PNEUMONIA

At a certain age or, rather, a stage of human life, the mind becomes set like plaster of Paris, and after that, according to the psychologist James it becomes difficult to make new impressions upon the mind or change the individual's views or beliefs.

Before the mind sets it is comparable in many cases with India rubber, very plastic indeed and susceptible to new impressions, but the new ideas or thoughts are likely to bounce off again without any lasting effect on the mind. A man with an India rubber mind sent me a letter the other day calling me a lot of interesting but unprintable names and enclosing an item telling how some prominent citizen suffered a chilling while on a 20 mile automobile trip in very cold weather, as a result of which according to the item, he developed pneumonia and died. The correspondent expected this item would put a quietus on all my teachings about the harmlessness of cold weather aside from the chance of frostbite. The India rubber minded man failed to bear in mind that mine is a plaster of Paris mind on this subject.

Can a person almost, yet not quite have pneumonia? Can he be threatened with pneumonia yet not develop the disease? Can a doctor or healer of any kind break up or abort an attack of pneumonia? Does pneumonia occur without exposure to cold? Is pneumonia a mechanical state purely, or it is an infection by germs?

The layman's own notion that he is coming down with pneumonia is based on his own unreliable sensations. Every doctor knows that nine cases out of ten in which the layman imagines the trouble is seated in his bronchial tubes or in his lungs are in reality cases of upper respiratory diseases, such as laryngitis, adenoid body inflammation, throat infections and the like. But to the layman the soreness and cough seem to come from the depths of the chest. This common misapprehension gives rise to a deal of needless treatment, mostly ill-advised self-treatment, and the "cure" resorted to is often a factor in retarding or embarrassing the natural healing processes and thus favoring downward extension of the infection or inflammation and perhaps in some cases bringing about the pneumonia which the "cure" purports to "ward off."

One can't almost have pneumonia and yet not really have it. Nor can any healer seriously claim that his remedies or mode of treatment will "break up" or "abort" an attack of pneumonia, once the condition has been diagnosed by a competent physician.

Pneumonia is as certainly an infectious disease, a fever, as is typhoid or diphtheria, and so far as the evidence goes it is no more tangibly associated with exposure or cold than are typhoid and diphtheria.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The Girl Who Drinks

I am a girl 20 years old and I drink 12 glasses of water each day. My parents think this is too much. Please tell me whether it will injure my health in any way. Why is it bad to eat fish and milk at the same meal?—(M. O. C.)

Answer—Twelve glasses of water daily is not too much to drink and can do no harm. It is not objectionable, save in the imagination of some who have no knowledge of physiology, to take fish and milk at the same meal, if you want them.

Which Way?

Is there any truth in the theory of having your head toward the north when sleeping? Some people argue that it is more healthful to sleep in this position on account of the magnetism.—(J. W. K.)

Answer—There is no magnetism concerned and it is immaterial which way your head is directed.

Cut It Out

Is it better to remove cancers by cutting them out or burning them out?—(Worried)

Answer—Well, if it were my cancer, I'd prefer cutting, being something of a coward about pain and peril.

Discarding the Old Dances

From Steelton comes the disturbing news that the Croatian residents there are discarding their native dances for the jazz and other exotic gyrations that mark the American dance hall. Without doubt the Americanization process is under way, but with considerable loss in this instance to both the alien and the native born.

If the Croatians must dance the modern steps, none can deny them the right, but they ought before forsaking the dances they brought from their fatherland teach them to their American friends. Most of the European dances, folk dances, at least, are as good as the American ones, and a kind of attractive beauty contrasted with the hybrid movements of the extremes and daring dances in America today. It would be a fine thing for Americans, if they do not care to return to the graceful dances once so popular and becoming at least take up the dance that is grounded in the gracefulness of civilization rather than of barbarism.—HARRISBURG PATRIOT (Ind. Resume of American and Foreign Newspaper Opinion

Labor's Three-Power Treaty

With the reported refusal of the coal operators to meet mine workers' representatives to discuss new working agreements, the danger of a strike of the coal miners is presumably materially increased. In view of that probable outlook the real significance of the formal alliance of miners, railroad workers and longshoremen just consummated becomes a matter of interested speculation in the papers, for, as the PROVIDENCE JOURNAL declares, this association of organized workers "may be of great detriment to the public," and its plans are consequently "of direct and vital interest to the American people."

The form of the agreement drawn up at the Chicago conference of the miners and the seventeen railroad unions is such, many editors remark, that it "may mean a great deal of it may mean nothing." The BALTIMORE NEWS suggests that "it might seem that Mr. Lewis and his associates had been following a recent and distinguished example when they agreed merely that when any group of the associated organizations should be attacked, they would confer upon ways and means of meeting the emergency," while there is perhaps an echo from the Senate chamber in the added stipulation that "action taken under this section is subject to the approval of each organization represented." The agreement is "worded as diplomatically as the covenant of the League of Nations or any portion of the four-power treaty," the INDIANAPOLIS NEWS (Ind.) observes, for "it does not commit the labor organizations to anything drastic, but it does bring them together on what they feel is common ground." Therefore the NEWS feels that the alliance "is not alarming."

It is probably "little more than a gesture intended to influence public opinion" and to clinch the impression that "a coal strike is inevitable," the NEW YORK TRIBUNE thinks. In view of that strike, however, the miners were after a compact with the railroad men, the PHILADELPHIA PUBLIC LEDGER (Ind.) holds, "that could have turned a coal strike into a general strike." If such were needed to give victory to the miners, "that they draw them are not likely to get." The LEDGER continues; they got instead an agreement which is a "mild affair," granting the "moral support" of both classes of transport men, railroad workers who were canny enough to call off a projected strike of their own "because they found that public sentiment and the government were against them." are not at all likely, the NEWARK NEWS adds, to enter into a "sympathetic strike" agreement "for coal miners with whom they find themselves in a theoretical community," especially when "there is no real community of interest between the two classes."

Aside from the immediate issue of a coal strike, however, the NEW YORK TIMES finds "a potential danger in an alliance of coal miners, railway workers and longshoremen," and the BIRMINGHAM-NEWS agrees that "it is distinctly a potentially dangerous combination." Essentially, the HARTFORD TIMES declares, it is "an offensive alliance directed against the mass of the people and designed solely for the aggrandizement of the craft organizations involved." "Cautiously as the agreement is worded," says the ST. LOUIS GLOBE DEMOCRAT, "it gives definite expression to a community of interest, with the purpose of influencing in their favor, by a show of co-ordinated power, the course of industrial readjustment," obviously a combination of strength and resources "which would be a grave menace to the nation."

The alliance is unquestionably made "to give greater weight to miners' demands," the GLOBE DEMOCRAT argues, but as the railroad workers oppose demands for wage reductions made by the railroads, it follows that in supporting the miners against wage cuts they are seeking concrete relief from their own "complaints." But "the intelligent among them" know better, the NEW YORK TRIBUNE is certain, than to believe "they can repel the universal pressure against a continuance of abnormal conditions created by the war by an alliance, for 'two unions, even as powerful as those of the mine workers and the railroad employes, cannot stay the operation of economic law.'"

There are some, for whom the ST. JOSEPH NEWS-PRESS speaks, who see in the alliance even a deeper significance than a wage movement, in short, another effort toward nationalization of the mines and roads, and to whom this "cloaked expedition" of the miners and rail workers appears "as an attempt to bring about economically a result which the promoters failed to accomplish politically."

If this is indeed the objective they are merely "adopting a British failure," the NEW YORK HERALD warns them. The British "triple alliance," a powerful organization of longshoremen, had operated in almost precisely the same terms," the PETERSBERG (Va.) PROGRESS AND INDEX APPEAL informs us, "as that which has been reached between the three organizations in the United States." Yet when the miners in England depended upon a general sympathy strike based on mutuality of interest "to force nationalization," the railway and the transport workers parted company with the miners on issues of policy and the "conflict of interests" which developed resulted, as the WORLD reports it, in "the severest reverses organized labor in Great Britain has ever known."

Nevertheless, what the other two members of the Triple Alliance did in the case of the British coal strike, the NEW YORK GLOBE recalls, "was to interpose in behalf of the miners and through diplomatic pressure to bring about the ultimate settlement," and this, the GLOBE thinks, will be the role under the new agreement, "if the coal industry" is permitted to drift into a strike.

Poor Beggar's Wine Bill

London—Beggings is on the increase in London. Never in recent years have there been so many persons in the streets asking for alms, says the LONDON CHRONICLE, and never have there been more appeals to the charitable.

"The secretary of the London Mendicant Society—a body which has had more than 100 years' experience of mendicancy in London, declared that begging was on the increase, but that 'our experience does not indicate that there is any abnormal distress existing."

"The society deals with mendicancy by means of a special police force and investigators, some of whom have had twenty years' experience at their work. And in the secretary's view vagrancy, it seems, is a profession which offers a fair living to its followers."

"Only yesterday," said the secretary, "a police officer told me of a youth who was charged with begging. The lad admitted that on the day before Christmas Eve he netted a comfortable sum, and on Christmas Eve a still greater amount."

"We have an officer in each police cord to hear all charges of begging. And each case is investigated by our visitors. Certainly not more than two per cent of the cases are found genuine," said the secretary.

"The chief work of the society, however, is dealing with begging letters, which appear to be a favorite and lucrative branch of the profession."

"We had one case lately," said the official, "of an old man, well educated and earning a salary as tutor. He wrote hundreds of letters, many of which were sent to us, telling of his small income, and the state of his invalid wife's health. This was strictly true, but it was not the whole truth. Our investigation revealed the fact that he had two sons filling positions with good salaries and another son abroad who sent him stated sums."

"Our visitors found him in a very nice house, and made inquiries of a neighboring tradesman as to whether he was a man to whom credit could be given. The reply of the tradesman was that the man's wine bill, a very sizeable amount, was always paid promptly each month."

"Asked as to the begging letters which were investigated by the society, the secretary said that only 15 per cent of them were genuine cases of distress. As illustrating the working of the present methods of dealing with unemployment, a London merchant told of a case in which he was personally interested."

"He had a man working for him at a fair salary. The man left his employment and a month or two after returned and asked to be taken back. He was informed that the previous situation was filled, but that another was open to him. This he refused to accept. A few weeks ago he asked for assistance, and it was found that he was receiving funds from four separate charitable organizations."

Americans in Constantinople

Cologne.—A suspicious correspondent of the KOBLENISCHER ZEITUNG in Constantinople notes that Americans are penetrating more and more into the region and seem to feel that "the East" is preparing to lay its heavy hand on the treasures of the east. He writes:

"The Americans seem to be settling more and more in Constantinople, where vigorous competition, both diplomatic and commercial, is going on between them and the English and Italians."

"They began by increasing the schools and charitable institutions. Afterwards they created many branches to their banks and opened many industrial departments. Many thousands of Ford motor cars have been sold in Constantinople alone. The rice and flour markets belong almost entirely to Americans."

"It is evident," says the writer, "that the Americans are keeping an eye on Asia and its fabulous wealth."

Given the American charge d'affaires, is showing extraordinary activity at the present time. He is rapping at all the official doors in the hope of obtaining some advantages.

"It is not only a question for the United States of obtaining the Anatolian petroleum wells, but of obtaining the right to build, by railroads, constructed roads, and sell their up-to-date agricultural machines, millions of which are waiting already in the docks."

"It is said at Constantinople that American business men have offered Kemal Pasha tremendous financial and business advantages in return for important concessions in the mines which are very rich in chrome and manganese discovered two months ago."

Golden Caviare.

Paris.—France may be feeling the pinch of financial stress sufficiently to justify imperative demands for reparations payments, but Parisians are yet determined to enjoy life regardless of cost, it is indicated by reports to the effect that during recent celebrations restaurants added to their menu service of caviare which had been transported from Russia by airplane at amazing cost.

Brought to Paris by three relays—Moscow to Berlin, Berlin to Strasbourg, and Strasbourg to Paris—of airplanes, the caviare cost six thousand marks a pound, reaching Berlin, says the correspondent of the LONDON CHRONICLE and on its arrival in Paris a small part of the comestible sells at six hundred francs. Yet, "no one grumbles," says the report.

TWO FLOORS OF GOOD THINGS FOR MEN

Help Your Digestion

By Dr. H. R. Bishop

The rate and the comfort of digestion is influenced by the proportions of protein, fat and carbohydrates eaten.

Water passes through the stomach very quickly. Carbohydrates tend to pass out of the stomach faster than proteins and proteins faster than fats.

Mixtures of protein and carbohydrate go faster than proteins alone, but more slowly than carbohydrates. Mixtures of protein and fat, on the other hand, go slower than either alone.

This retarding effect of fat is an advantage to some, a disadvantage to others. The healthy stomach finishes up its work quickly and often gives its possessor discomfort because of its insistence for more food before meal time.

Such people can eat foods that take a longer time to digest, especially if they lead an outdoor life.

Less vigorous persons with more sluggish digestions would find fatty foods delaying their digestion unduly; hence we consider such foods hard to digest.

Most people can eat large amounts of carbohydrate foods with ease. There are some persons, however, in whose stomachs carbohydrates tend to ferment very easily, usually as a result of bad mastication, insufficiency of gastric acid or poor muscular activity of the stomach.

Such people need to eat less carbohydrate foods than others and should rely more upon proteins and simple forms of fat for their body fuel.

In general, good digestion depends upon:

KEEPING the whole body in good condition by breathing fresh air; TAKING suitable exercise; CULTIVATING cheerfulness; OBSERVING regular meal times and refraining from foods at other times; AVOIDING food when greatly overworked or fatigued, or limiting it to simple, warm, fluid foods; MASTICATING thoroughly so that food never goes down in large lumps; PAYING some regard to the retarding effect of fat on digestion and avoid large amounts of very concentrated or irritating foods.

Q. Is it true that the state of Maine has a large number of rivers and lakes? W. B.

A. There are 1,600 or more lakes and ponds in Maine, and over 6,000 streams.

Q. Is there a poisonous principle in potatoes? H. R. T.

A. Solanin is a characteristic constituent of potatoes and other plants of the same family. It is acrid in taste and is poisonous. Only a trace, however, about 0.01 per cent on an average, is found in the tubers of the varieties which are grown for the table, and this quantity is far too small to cause any unpleasant symptoms. It is claimed that the characteristic flavor of potatoes is due to this mere trace of solanin. At any rate, the very starchy potatoes which are lacking in flavor contain only about half as much solanin as the better table varieties. Potatoes which have grown on the surface of the ground or which have been exposed to the light frequently turn green, and such tubers solanin, as do old and shriveled potatoes which have sprouted. It is best not to use such old potatoes, but if they are eaten the flesh around the sprouts should be cut away, as this portion is particularly liable to contain solanin. Small or unripe tubers contain a higher percentage of solanin than full grown tubers.

Q. When was the last eruption of Popocatepetl? J. U. L.

A. No considerable eruption of this volcano has been reported since 1548, though minor eruptions occurred as late as 1862, and the crater still emits fumes.

Q. Was Dion Boucicault, Sr., an actor as well as an actor? C. H. O.

A. Boucicault had written many plays before he appeared as an actor. His first play was produced before he was 19 years old and he was 30 when he appeared behind the footlights.

Q. Is Roquefort cheese made from cow's milk? F. H. N.

A. Roquefort cheese is made of the milk of sheep. Gorgonzola, another highly flavored cheese, is made from cow's milk.

Q. Please publish a good recipe for cement for broken china. J. B. C.

A. Jeweler's cement for broken china is made as follows: Boil 8 parts of linseed oil in water containing a little alcohol. Add to it 1 part of galbanum, 1 part of gum ammoniac and 4 parts of alcohol. The mixture is used hot.

Q. Where are the Aeolian Islands and are they cultivated? M. L. M.

A. This is a group of seven large and numerous small islands, north of Sicily, in the Mediterranean. The largest islands comprise Lipari, Salina, Vulcano, Milliculi, Stromboli, Panaria, and Alicuri. Though of volcanic origin, the islands as a whole are well cultivated. The chief productions are currants, olives, figs, tropical fruits and salt. Wine also is produced.

Q. Who was divinely guided by the dew on the fleece? R. F.

A. In the sixth chapter of Judges, beginning with the thirty-sixth verse, is the following: "And Gideon said unto God, If thou wilt save Israel by my hand as thou has spoken behold I will put a fleece of wool on the threshing floor; if there be dew on the fleece only, and it be dry upon all the ground, then shall I know that thou wilt save Israel by my hand, as thou has spoken. And it was so, for he rose up early on the morning, and pressed the fleece to his cheek, and wrung the dew out of the fleece, a bowlful of water."

Q. I see in your columns that the United States leads in number of telephones in proportion to population. A. The United States stands first with 13 telephones to 100 people; Canada has 8.1; Denmark, 7.3; New Zealand, 6.5; Sweden, 6.4; Norway, 4.5; Australia, 4; Switzerland, 3; Great Britain, 1.9; Netherlands, 1.3 and Argentina, 1.1.

Q. Has the Patent Office ever been burned? F. C.

A. The building in which the models of patents were kept was destroyed by fire in 1836. Again in 1877 a part of the building was burned.

Q. Is the hippopotamus naturally an aggressive animal? G. D. L.

A. The hippopotamus is naturally timid though subject to fits of passion or rage. When wounded or enraged, this animal is regarded by sportsmen as perhaps the most dangerous beast to be encountered.

Q. Who was Sam Patch? T. M.

A. Sam Patch was a lad widely known for daring leaps and dives. Born in 1807 in Rhode Island, he came to a cotton spinner in Paterson, N. J. A jump from a bridge into the Passaic River brought him such notoriety that he traveled about leaping from bridges and diving from topmasts of ships. He was killed in 1829 when attempting a jump of 125 feet into the Genesee River.

KAUKAUNA WILL PUT STRONG BALL TEAM IN FIELD

Baseball Club Will be Incorporated and Stock Will Be Sold

Kaukauna.—About 50 business men of this city got the baseball bug thawed out ready for action this summer at a meeting Sunday afternoon in Elk hall. Officers were elected and plans for a real baseball season were discussed. The board of directors was elected Sunday. It consists of Paul Smith of the Combined Locks Paper Co.; Rudolph A. Jacoby, manager of the Union Bag and Paper corporation; John Coppes, south side postmaster; F. W. Grogan and Edward Grebe. H. H. Johnson was elected secretary of the newly organized baseball club.

Kaukauna will be incorporated this year. Incorporation papers have been prepared and shares will be sold at $1 each. The president and treasurer will be chosen by the directors. The board also will have power to hire a regular playing manager to run the team.

Everything this year is to be done in a business-like way and indications are that the Electric city will be one of the shining lights in the Fox River Valley league.

Practically the whole team will be composed of players from this vicinity. The whole lineup has been tentatively picked with the exception of a pitcher. A first class moundman will be secured and will work in Kaukauna to eliminate all expense due to railroad fare for players. According to present plans there will not be a Milwaukee player in a Kaukauna suit.

Extensive improvements will be made on the playing field before the season opens. The grand stand will be renovated and enlarged to accommodate at least 1,000 people.

Realizing that the valley league is getting faster and better every year, the Kaukauna magnates are desirous of keeping up in the race. The leaders have expressed confidence that the fans will offer good support, for it is generally conceded that there is not a city in the league which gave its team such support in the face of difficulty as was experienced last season. The league for the coming season will consist of six teams, Green Bay and Fond du Lac have been added to the circuit in place of Kimberly and New London.

TWO TEAMS ROLL IN K. OF C. TOURNAMENT

Kaukauna.—Two Kaukauna teams consisting of members of the local council of the Knights of Columbus, bowled Sunday afternoon and evening at Fond du Lac in the annual K. C. state tournament. The men took part in all events, five man, double and singles and rolled some good scores. The men who formed the teams included Frank Muehka, Frank Spindler, Gordon Mulholland, William Galemacher, Carl Hilgenberg, Wilfred Brown, Ben Faust, Ethel Brewster, Henry Muthig, Henry Minkebis.

They were to attend the funeral of their sister, Mrs. Jack Schuit who died at Kimberly, Friday.

Miss Rose Lethen of Appleton was the guest of Miss Estelle Gerrits Sunday.

A few people of this village were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Corneli Oudenhoven in Grand Chute Sunday. The party included Mr. and Mrs. John Van De Boon, Mr. and Mrs. John Look and Mrs. John Kilsdonk.

Henry Van De Tacht returned Saturday from a visit with friends in Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. John Van Aysten, Mr. and Mrs. John Van Dornen, John Gerrits, Miss Geraldine Miller, C. Van Heeswyk, Mr. and Mrs. M. Weyenberg, and Mrs. Peter Gerrits attended a card party Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Gerrits in Combined Locks.

The members of St. Agnes Sodality of St. John church held their monthly meeting at the school hall Sunday afternoon.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Really and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less. Get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time. It is a truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs, loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dried cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic cough, hoarseness, or bronchial asthma. Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract known the world over for its healing effect on membranes. Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORS DROP PLANS FOR PLAY

Kaukauna.—The Senior Christian Endeavor society of Reformed church held lively business session at its monthly meeting Monday evening in the church basement. The play committee, which had been authorized to proceed with a play reported several obstacles and it was decided to drop the matter until after Easter.

The society, in conjunction with the two other departments, will prepare a program for one night of a week shortly after Easter, during which the church will celebrate its thirty-fifth anniversary in Kaukauna.

Various organizations in the church will have charge of a different evening during the week.

A lengthy discussion regarding the basketball question was held. It is probable the team will play one more home game.

A social meeting followed the business session.

Here Is Way To Cut Cost Of Making Maple Fudge

One of the contestants in the cooking contest suggests that to make maple fudge with maple syrup is more economical than to make it with maple sugar. She gives a recipe for this method which sounds good. And then there is the recipe for coffee fudge which also sounds good. Why not try these the next time you have a fudge party?

NUT CARAMEL FUDGE
2 cups light brown sugar
1 tablespoon butter
1 cup milk
1 or 1 1/2 cups nuts
Flavor with vanilla
Cook sugar, butter and milk until it will thread. Take from fire, add flossing, and nuts. Beat as you would fudge. Pour into buttered pans, cool and cut.—Miss Lillian Bell.

MARSHMALLOW FUDGE
2 cups powdered sugar
1 cup sweet cream brought to boiling point, stir gently to prevent burning, add 1/4 lb. chocolate and stir gently until melted. Boil until mixture forms a rather hard ball in cold water, probably ten minutes. Now add quickly a tablespoon of butter, remove from fire and beat briskly for ten minutes. Pour into a buttered pan containing a mixture of half a pound of cut up marshmallows and a quarter pound of broken nut meats, pecans preferred. Cut in squares.—Frances Forklin Center, Chilton.

FUDGE
2 cups sugar
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup cocoa
1 teaspoon vanilla
Boil six minutes. Beat until creamy and pour on buttered tins.—Mrs. Frank Hob, 1183 Franklin-st.

MAPLE FUDGE
It is much less expensive to use maple syrup instead of maple sugar. Take 1 cup of maple syrup to 1 1/2 cups of light brown sugar, 1/2 cup milk, small piece of butter. Boil slowly when done beat with a fork until creamy and sugary. This will be smoother if allowed to stand overnight.—Mrs. Cumber, 624 1/2 Richmond-st.

COFFEE FUDGE
Boil together 2 cups sugar and 1 cup strong coffee, 1 teaspoon butter. Boil until a spoonful of candy stiffens when beaten. Then take from the fire, beat hard till quite stiff. Pour in 1 cup of broken shell bark of pecan nuts and pour in a buttered tin. This is an extremely tooth some candy.—Mrs. Frank Cumber.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE
4 cups sugar
1/2 cup sweet cream
1/2 cup milk
2 heaping tablespoons cocoa
Dissolve cocoa in a very little boiling water before adding the sugar. Boil all until it forms a hard ball when dropped in cold water. Flavor with vanilla and add 1 1/2 cups shelled halved peanuts. Beat until it granulates, then pour on buttered plate.—Mrs. H. Baumann, R6, Appleton.

DIVINITY FUDGE
2 1/2 cups granulated sugar
1/2 cup syrup
1/2 cup boiling water
Boil until it forms a soft ball when dropped on a cold plate. Flavor with vanilla. Have ready the whites of 2 eggs beaten stiff and dry. Pour the syrup into the egg whites slowly, then beat until thick enough to pour on buttered plates. When partly cooled cut in pieces.—Mrs. H. Baumann.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE
Two cups white granulated sugar, 1 tablespoon butter, 1/2 cup sweet cream or milk, 1/2 cake unsweetened chocolate. Put in the sugar and cream or milk and when this becomes hot put in the chocolate, broken up into fine pieces. Stir vigorously and constantly. Put in butter when it begins to boil. Stir until it forms a soft ball in cold water. Then remove and heat until quite cool and pour into buttered tin. Chopped walnuts, almonds, or pecans can be added before stirring.—Miss Lillian Bell, North Kaukauna.

FUDGE CANDY
2 cups granulated sugar
2 tablespoons cocoa or 1 square of chocolate
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon butter
Boil together all ingredients except 1/2 cup milk. Let come to a boil, add remainder of milk and boil until it forms a firm ball when tested in cold water. Remove from fire and let stand in cold water until it cools then beat slightly and pour on a buttered plate.—Dorothy Schroeder, 1202 Packard-st.

EDUCATION BOARD WILL WORK WITH COMMON COUNCIL

Opinion of Attorney General is Discussed at Monthly Meeting

The opinion of Attorney General Morgan on the school situation in Appleton was the most important matter that came before the board of education at its meeting at Appleton high school Monday afternoon. Paul V. Cary read a synopsis of the opinion together with comments on the same which were ordered published in full.

In order to devote more time to the opinion than was possible at the meeting it was decided to make it a special order for another session next Friday evening.

It was the consensus of opinion of the board there was no occasion for further delay in relieving the present congestion of the high school and steps will be taken at once toward the establishment of one or two junior high schools.

PLAN NEXT STEP
The manner of procedure will be decided at the next meeting of the board, which will work in harmony with the common council. A suggestion was made that the joint school committee of the common council and board of education be dissolved now that the opinion of the attorney general had been secured but did not meet with approval. Matters pertaining to the consolidation of school districts and the necessary bond issue will be taken up at the meeting Friday evening.

Leo C. Kasey announced to the board that he and Alderman Joseph Mayer, who had been appointed as a committee to see if the state educational department would make a school survey of Appleton expected to go to Madison Wednesday to interview State Superintendent John Callahan in the matter.

A. S. Galpin was appointed a member of the building and grounds committee to succeed George Packard, who resigned from the board upon changing his place of residence. Bills amounting to $432.87 were allowed. A contract was ordered with Miss Cecile Arpin, teacher in the elementary school. The treasury officers report showed that 24 cases of nonattendance had been investigated during the month, of which 19 were nonattendance of boys and 5 of girls.

25 KNIGHTS TEMPLAR ATTEND MAIN FUNERAL

A delegation of 25 Appleton Knights Templar attended the funeral of A. J. Main at Kaukauna Monday. The services were conducted in the Methodist church by the Rev. Paul Keicher of All Saints church, Appleton, who was assisted by the Methodist pastor of that city. The body was taken to Fond du Lac for burial and was accompanied by an escort of Kaukauna Knights Templar. Decedent was foreman of the railroad shops in Kaukauna.

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a Tablespoonful of Salts If Back Hurts, Bladder Bothers

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night, when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active. adv.

MORGAN STILL LEAVES SCHOOL BOARD IN DARK

Board of Education Confronted By Vexatious Questions Despite Opinion

CARY PREPARES SYNOPSIS Consolidation of School Districts By Council Creates New Problem

section of the statutes, may the board of education dissolve or consolidate the existing districts.

"Fifth: (b) He holds that, under Section 40.01 (1) of the statutes, the city council is authorized to consolidate and dissolve school districts.

"In coming to this conclusion, the attorney general concludes that section 40.01 applies to the city of Appleton, although it is, or was a city under a special charter.

"However, in considering what the result would be in case of such action by the city council, we should be careful not to be confused as to what would be accomplished and what would not be accomplished. Such action, as I view it, would result in abolishing the four grade school districts and giving us two districts including the entire city, one being a grade school district and the other our present high school district, or possibly it might be framed as to make the entire city one school district, including both high and grade schools. But that is all. It would not change the school system, or its government excepting that the board of education and the high school board instead of consisting as now of the mayor and clerk and director of each of the four districts, nine in all, would consist of the mayor and the clerk and director of the new consolidated district, three in all.

"Sixth: He holds that the new general charter law, chapter 242, laws 1921, provides a plan of city school government but makes the adoption of such plan entirely optional.

He quotes from Section 40.04 (1) as follows:

"Any city other than of the first class not operating its schools under the plan provided by this section . . . may adopt such plan, but only by referendum in each school district the whole or part of which is embraced in such city. . . Unless a majority of the electors voting in each school district vote for the adoption, THE SYSTEM SHALL BE UNCHANGED, otherwise the result of the referendum shall be to create one district of all the old districts. . .

"And concludes as follows:

"Therefore, until a referendum vote is taken in Appleton, the old school district system will continue to prevail as to the common schools of the city although, as pointed out above, the entire city is and will continue to be a single free high school district.

"There is a portion of said section, however, which the attorney general has not quoted, and which it was unnecessary for him to quote to answer the questions propounded to him, but I wish to call your attention to the same. It is as follows:

"The referendum shall be held at special district meetings at the same hour in each district and called and conducted as provided in sections 40.08 or 10.40 as the case may be. The question shall be 'Shall the City School Plan be adopted?'

"Then follows the latter part of the quotation by the attorney general. It will be noted from my quotation that it contains the words, 'Conducted as provided in sections 40.08 or 10.40 AS THE CASE MAY BE.' Section 40.08 is the section covering district meetings to be held in the various school houses and at the same time as our regular annual meetings, and is the section under which Kaukauna has just held a referendum and adopted the city school plan.

"Section 10.40 is the sections of the statutes covering special city elections and is in part as follows:

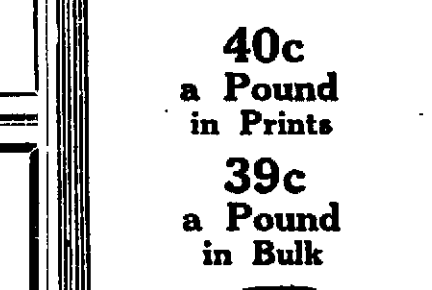

"(2) Whenever the common council of any city shall, by ordinance or resolution, submit any question, ordinance, or proposed recall from office, to the vote of the electors, the city clerk shall issue a call for the election and prepare and distribute ballots as required by the ordinance or resolution or by the statute relating to or authorizing the submission etc.

"Now the question arises as to whether it is optional to hold the referendum under section 40.08 or section 10.40, that is, whether to hold it by various school district meetings upon the initiative of the various school boards, or to hold it as a special city election and upon the initiative of the city council? The interpretation to be placed upon the words 'as the case may be' would seem to be the answer to this question.

"And if it is held under section 40.08, the further question arises, whether it would not be necessary to hold elections in the four districts and also in the high school district constituting the entire city, and secure a majority in all five districts.

"Referring back to the third finding of the attorney general's opinion, namely, that junior high schools can be established merely by resolution of the board of education, approved by the state superintendent, I wish to call your attention to the fact that although junior high schools may be technically ESTABLISHED by such resolution of the board of education that in itself does not give us junior high schools. We still have before us the question of raising the money to secure sites and erect and equip such junior high schools.

"Chapter 646 of the statutes on 'Cities under Special Charters' provides, in section 926-11 (3), that the common council may issue bonds for the erection of new school buildings and the purchase of school sites. And I find no provision for referring the question of issue to a vote of the people under this section.

"Chapter 646 of the statutes, on 'Cities under General Charter Law,' provides in section 925-133, that the council shall have authority to issue bonds for building school houses and purchasing sites for public buildings, and that, in case of bonds issued for school purposes and public buildings, a vote of the people of the city shall not be required unless within thirty days after the passage by the common council of the city of the ordinance authorizing the issue of the bonds for such purposes there shall be filed in the office of the city clerk a petition in writing, signed by not less than 10 per cent in number of the voters who voted in said city at the last general state election, asking for submission of the question of issuing such bonds to a vote of the people, in which case such question shall be submitted as provided in Section 943.

"The general charter act, chapter 242, laws of 1921, while it abolishes all special charters, does not abolish Section 925-133 of the old general charter act, and I do not think it abolishes section 926-11 of the old special charter act. And the new act provides no new authority or method of issuing bonds for school purposes.

"Hence it is still a question as to which act the council would proceed under. But that is a question for the city attorney."

COLLEGE SINGERS START AT NEENAH

Lawrence College Glee club will give its first concert at Neenah on Friday, March 10 and its second concert at Kaukauna on Friday, March 17, according to announcement by Carl J. Waterman, director of the club. The program will consist of many new songs and the club is especially well balanced this year. The number of men who will go on the trip is 36.

Although the itinerary for the long trip which commences on March 20 is not quite complete, the most important concerts are booked. The places to be made on the trip are Waupaca, Stevens Point, Merrill, Wausau, Chippewa Falls, Eau Claire, Tomah, Madison, Evansville, Janesville, Rockford, Ill., Port Atkins, Waunakee, and I. Milwaukee. Although the date for the home concert has not been definitely set it probably will be April 20.

The general charter act, chapter 242, laws of 1921, while it abolishes all special charters, does not abolish Section 925-133 of the old general charter act, and I do not think it abolishes section 926-11 of the old special charter act. And the new act provides no new authority or method of issuing bonds for school purposes.

ISABEL OSTRANDER

"Certainly. You know the bluish smoke and flame which is sometimes observed escaping from the exhaust pipe beneath the rear of the car?" the professor asked. "That is carbon monoxide."

"Would it be possible to convey this carbon monoxide in some way from the exhaust pipe of an automobile to a closed room?" Barry's voice trembled with excitement.

"Certainly," the professor exclaimed, and the sheriff took a step forward. "A rubber tubing would convey it directly from the exhaust pipe into any sort of container, metal or otherwise. I understand what you mean, Sergeant Barry, and it is a most ingenious and practical theory! The container could be opened in a closed room and the carbon monoxide allowed to escape, or it could be directly forced into the lungs by means of the rubber tubing by which it had been introduced to the exhaust pipe. There have been more than one case of accidental death reported in the medical journals, in which chauffeurs, working in closed garages, have been overcome by the fumes and died before help could reach them. The theory of the use of the gas by burglars in the effort to render their victims insensible, has often occurred to me, in fact."

He broke off, and both hands clutched at his bushy white hair in sudden consternation.

"My God! And I unwittingly described the very means by which the murder was committed! In what part of the house or grounds?"

"In a corner of the library, and to my hostess. We were closely screened by tall, flowering shrubs that we could not see who else might enter but people were constantly passing. This is horrible!" the professor exclaimed.

"Did you mention also the way in which the carbon monoxide might be transferred from the exhaust pipe of a car to a container and how it might be used to asphyxiate people?" asked Barry. "That would, of course, be the most important part to us."

"Yes, I did!" Professor Semynov groaned. "I am an enthusiastic idiot!"

Barry strolled around the house to the garage.

Barry found Frank, the chauffeur busily engaged in cleaning the latest touring car, which, together with Mrs. Tudor's own fast little racer and the station bus, occupied the space within the garage.

"Are these all the cars owned by the family, Frank?" Barry began without preamble.

The chauffeur looked up in surprise at the sudden query.

"Yes, sir, except for the limousine which is being overhauled in town."

"Would you hear if any one started one of the cars running down here during the night?"

"I should say I would," he responded. "Did you take one of these machines out last night for a joy ride during the dance?"

"Wouldn't you have known if they had?" Barry retorted.

The chauffeur shook his head.

"Not last night; I wasn't here. Mrs. Tudor gave me a night off on account of the dance, and I went to a movie in the village and stayed over with Pete Whaley, who runs the public garage. I got home here about nine o'clock and went straight to the garage, but it was all locked up tight just the way I had left it. There was one queer thing, though."

"What was it?" the detective demanded as Frank hesitated.

"Well, it don't hardly seem worth mentioning, but it struck me just now as I was cleaning the touring car that there ought to be more gasoline in the tank, according to my calculations, than there is."

He shook his head. "I usually figure it out pretty close, but I must have made a mistake just now."

"Who has the keys to the garage besides yourself?" Barry changed the subject abruptly.

"Only Mrs. Tudor and poor Miss Laurel. The locks ain't been changed in three years."

"It rained hard last night," the detective remarked. "You didn't find any muddy tracks in here this morning, Frank, did you?"

"Only my own," he said. Then a strange, rather confused look came over his face. "I usually keep my floor like wax, sir, but I was kind of hurried last night and didn't hose it down. I didn't find any muddy footprints this morning, but I did see some queer dried smears here and there, as though someone might have washed up the marks of their tread. Look here, sir—and here!"

He pointed, and Barry looked there were clean places on the only floor, as though indeed someone had tried to obliterate their footprints. Barry went carefully over every part of space. Then he straightened and inquired casually:

"How did you first learn of the trouble up at the house? Did Martha or another of the maids come out here to send you for the doctor?"

"No sir. I'd gone up to the servants' dining room to have a cup of coffee, and was just sitting down to it, when Martha came flying from the young ladies' room with her face as white as a sheet and told me to go as fast as I could—that Miss Laurel was dead."

Barry turned as if to depart, but at the threshold he dropped his handkerchief and, stopping to recover it, turned once more.

"By the way, I was having a little discussion with Lieutenant Cadmus a while ago about the exhaust of motors in general, and I asked if a rubber tube could be attached in some way to the exhaust pipe on a car and led out of doors, so that when the engine was running the fumes would escape into the outer air. He says it could not be done, that the pressure of the exhaust would force off the rubber tubing."

"What do you think?" The retort came promptly. "Why, I've seen it done myself! It was done as an experiment, just as you said, sergeant, to see if the fumes could be driven directly out of the garage. It was, extra heavy tubing, of course, and had been fastened on pretty tight, but it held all right."

"Is there any extra heavy tubing of that sort lying about the garage here?" demanded Barry. His voice had suddenly sharpened.

"Why, there was some." The chauffeur looked his wonderment. "We never used it, though, and I don't know what has become of it. I'll look for it, sir, if you like."

"I wish you would."

He left and proceeded slowly to the house. When Frank had drawn his attention to the cleaned spaces, he had observed something which had escaped to other's eye: A tiny,

EQUIP LIFEBOATS WITH WIRELESS TELEPHONES

Special to The Post-Crescent. Washington—Life boats of the Coast Guard are to be equipped with wireless telephone sets, which will keep them in constant communication with shore stations while engaged in rescue work at sea.

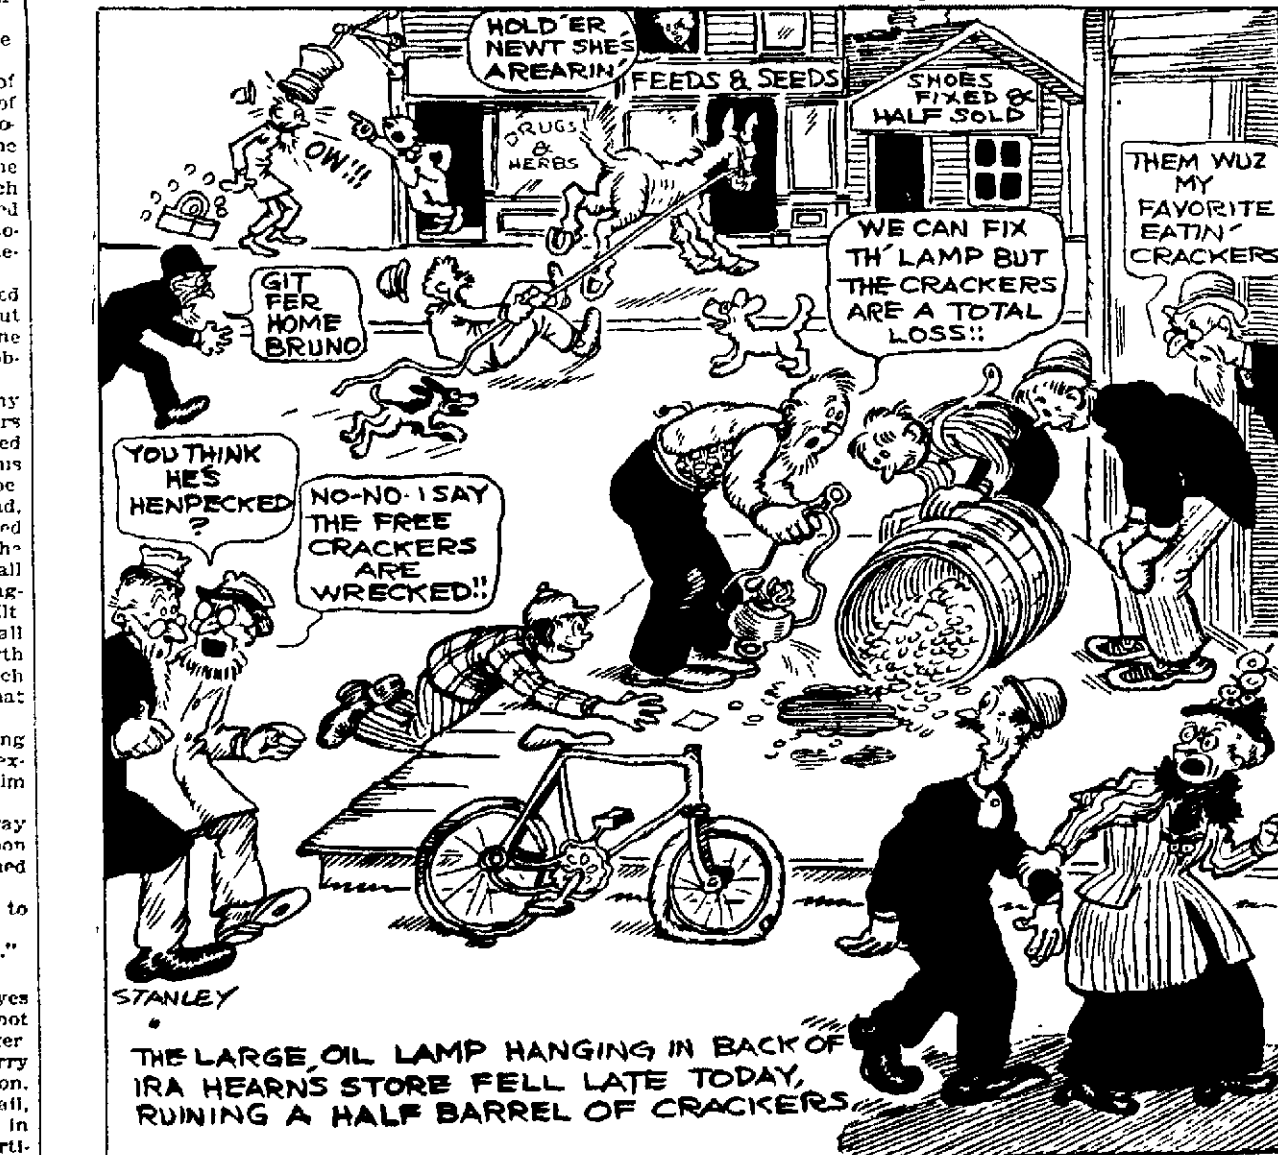

Wireless phones for the boats were successfully demonstrated during the recent Coast Guard meeting in Atlantic City. They were invented and perfected by the Bureau of Standards, which developed the wireless telephones used by American submarines during the war.

At the Atlantic City demonstration thirty-six foot power driven lifeboats communicated easily with the shore while five miles out at sea. Such communication was made possible by the use of a loop or rolled antenna. An aerial antenna is impossible on the lifeboats because everything above decks must be clear for line throwing and because of the heavy weather encountered.

HITCH WAGON TO STAR IF YOU WANT TO BECOME RICH

That is Advice of Woman Who Acquired Wealth in Business World

By Harriet Lucella McCollum
New York.—You want to make a million?
All right. You can!
But you mustn't think money while you're doing it!
Don't sit down and begin to think money, money, money! Don't begin to hoard the glittering stuff in your greedy fingers.
Just hitch your mental wagon to a millionaire star and keep right on riding!

You'll get there!
Hitching your mental wagon to a millionaire star, or any sort of star you wish, is, put into words:
Getting a vision.
Idealizing something.
Knowing specifically what you desire and what you are idealizing.
By getting a vision, I mean conceiving an idea of service. Every good thing, every desirable thing is based on service and rewards come in proportion to the service rendered.
By idealizing something I mean take the self out of it. For example, if selling shoes, don't sell shoes for the $2 profit you'll make. Sell them because someone needs those particular shoes to cover their particular feet.

Know that you want to sell those shoes. Don't sell them because that is one way to make your living and you haven't courage enough to break away from it even though you are not interested in it!
And don't ever jolly yourself into thinking you are working hard.
Just as soon as you begin to feel that you are working hard you defeat your own purpose. To that very feeling are half of the failures in this life due.

And a very great many of the other failures are due to the mental flabbiness which comes from feeding on flattery.

Don't take too much stock in the nice things people say about you even though you know they are true! Allowing them to clutter your consciousness will kill your directness and render your efforts hopelessly ineffective.

Insist to yourself that you are what you want to be.

Keep yourself mentally alert to every situation.

Have enough force of personality to do the necessary thing.

Develop your hunch gift. That is an extra sense given you to develop if you will. It is infallible.

Last—and I don't like to say this because you'll think I mean drugging and digging, when really I mean concentrating—99 per cent of every success is hard work.

Now then—go ahead and make your million!

Music Memory Contest NO. 28

RICHARD WAGNER
German Composer of Middle Nineteenth Century

Wilhelm Richard Wagner (1813-1883) was the greatest modern opera composer. Wagner returned to the first operative principles, that music drama and interpreter should be of equal importance. He always wrote his own librettos. He used individual themes to describe his characters and dramatic incidents, and also used instruments to represent characters. He replaced the Overture with the Prelude, thus preparing the audience for the action which followed.

His greatest operas are: "Rienzi," "Flying Dutchman," "Tannhauser," "Lohengrin," "Ring of the Nibelungen," consisting of "Rhinogold," "Valkyrie," "Siegfried," and "Twilight of the Gods"; "Tristan and Isolde"; "The Mastersingers"; and "Parsifal."

Pilgrims Chorus (Tannhauser)
The chorus of Returning Pilgrims is one of the most popular of operatic choruses. The Hymn of Faith and courage is heard from a distance, draws nearer and then dies away and admirably reflects the religious character of the composition.

This selection comes in the following records:
Edison, 82070.
Victor, 17563.
Duo Art, 5723.
C. R. S., 20274.

Magazine Is Too Red For The Printers
London.—Thrown out of Oxford University because of extreme political views, Arthur J. E. Reade, 29, one of the university's most brilliant students, is publishing a communist students' magazine. His magazine already has a larger circulation than any other college publication. Reade's main difficulty is getting the publication printed. The first issue was printed at Manchester, but the printers refused to get out any more. The second was printed at Oxford and the printers there also have filed objections.

COCKTAIL
A very tasty fresh fruit cocktail can be made of grapefruit, white grapes and pineapple.

Polly and Paul--and Paris

Chapter 65—The Rebut

BY ZOE BECKLEY

Violet walked to the corner again. The concierge made no reply save to apply to her sweeping a vigor that expressed disapproval of this smartly gowned visitor who came at such an unheard of hour inquiring for Mme. Dawson. If Mme. Dawson went to a party and chose to spend the night with her friend, Mlle. Brady, what affair was it of anyone else? Huh! And the good housekeeper flicked her dust with a will.

The rattle of a taxi made her look round. It drew up at the curb, and at the same moment the lady who had come inquiring returned from her stroll to the corner.

Out of the taxicab stepped—Mme. Dawson and a gentleman. The concierge's mouth fell ajar with amazement. Surely it couldn't be, and yet—there was the evidence of her own eyes! She waited for no more, her shrewd wits telling her that the handsomely dressed lady was there for some ugly purpose. She didn't want to know. She gathered up her cleaning things, and went into the house.

Violet contrived to come up just as Polly was being helped from the cab by Barry.

"Well, well!" She advanced with hands extended. "Where have you two children been? I knew you'd get lost, Polly, and I came over to see if you'd come home all right. I suppose you've perfectly good alibis for this little—ah—all-night excursion?"

Polly felt frozen. She tried to speak, but her voice failed her. She looked dumbly at Barry. — He swerved toward Violet. "None of your insinuations, Violet!" he said with restrained sharpness. "You ought to know better. What do you mean by all the chimneys in his magic Green Shoes and get all the notes that the children had written at the last minute.

Of course, you know, Kip the Brownie got some of the notes, because Kip had been busy trying to undo all the mischief that Tweeeknose, the wicked gnome, had done.

Tweeeknose would not only pull the children's nose and keep them awake and send him dreams down the chimneys, but he'd steal their notes if he could.

Kip had had his hands full. But finally the little fellow had things in pretty good shape and Tweeeknose had sneaked off to Gnome Land where he belonged. But there were still some notes that Kip didn't get and that was Nick's job.

He and Nancy worked hard and finally everything was finished. Back to the North Pole they went.

Nancy's Needle

Yes, Santa had given Nancy a needle, a magic one of course, to darn up all the holes in the stockings that were to hang up on the mantel-pieces.

Because, you know, sometimes with plum puddings to bake and the house to tidy up and so much to do 'n' all just before Christmas, mothers have to let the weekly darning wait and at the last minute often there isn't a decent stocking in the house.

It would never, never do to have Santa slide down a chimney (that the sweep had made all nice and clean) and stuff goodies, such as popcorn and candy, into the stockings and then find that the whole business was dropped, dropping out on the floor.

Santa Claus is much too busy (and much too fat) to stoop and pick the things up again. It wouldn't do at all. Nick went with Nancy but not to help her darn; he had a special mission of his own. He had to go down

SENTENCE WOMEN TO RAKE AND HOE

California Establishes Farm to Rehabilitate Delinquent Women

Sonoma, Cal.—It's only an old story—that they sentence delinquent women to jail. But it's a new one that they sentence them to the rake and the hoe.

The new idea is being tried out at the "Farm for Delinquent Women" here. Just a bit over two months old, and real results already have shown.

The farm consists of 640 acres. Barbara Englehart, one of the first girl agriculturists to graduate from the University of California, formerly school is in charge of crop development and the animal husbandry department.

"Curing morals through fresh air and healthful surroundings is bound to take," says she.

Miss Ruth Maxwell, formerly of the Midnight Mission in Chicago, is handling the general rehabilitation work and Miss Blanche Morse, psychologist and social worker, is superintendent.

"We are going to give unfortunate women every chance to come back," says Miss Morse. "Our plan is to give the maximum of liberty and develop the women for future work. They will even vote on all matters pertaining to the farm. Within a year we expect to have enough crops and cattle to practically pay for the maintenance of the institution."

LEMON JUICE

Buy a quantity of lemons, when they are available at medium prices. Squeeze out the juice and add sugar in proportion to one pound of sugar to one dozen lemons. Heat the juice until the sugar melts. Then put it in fruit jars. The juice will keep indefinitely and may be used just as the fresh fruit is used.

SHE'LL BAKE PIE FOR PRESIDENT

Mrs. Mary Moore, 67, of Westfield, Ind., is the only woman thus far found who can bake crum pies just as President Harding's grandmother made 'em. Her ability came to light when the wife of United States Senator Harry S. New addressed a group of Westfield women and told of the president's fondness for crum pie and his inability to find anyone to make them. Mrs. Moore says she'll make a pie for the president.

PIMENTO BUTTER
Pimento butter is often wanted for sandwiches and is easily made. Cream two tablespoons of butter with one canned pimento, pressed through a sieve; blend well and add salt.

BE SURE

of perfect results on bake-day. Don't spend your time in preparing bakings that contain expensive ingredients and be disappointed when you take them out of the oven. Use not because it's the biggest selling brand on earth, but because it is absolutely the most dependable and economical of all leaveners.

When you employ Calumet that your bakings will raise properly because it contains more than the ordinary leavening strength.

Don't waste energy and money on uncertain baking powder. Use Calumet, the "pure and sure" brand.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. cans instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

Household Hints

REMOVE IT
If the outer skin is removed from the lamb chops they will not have the strong taste some people object to.

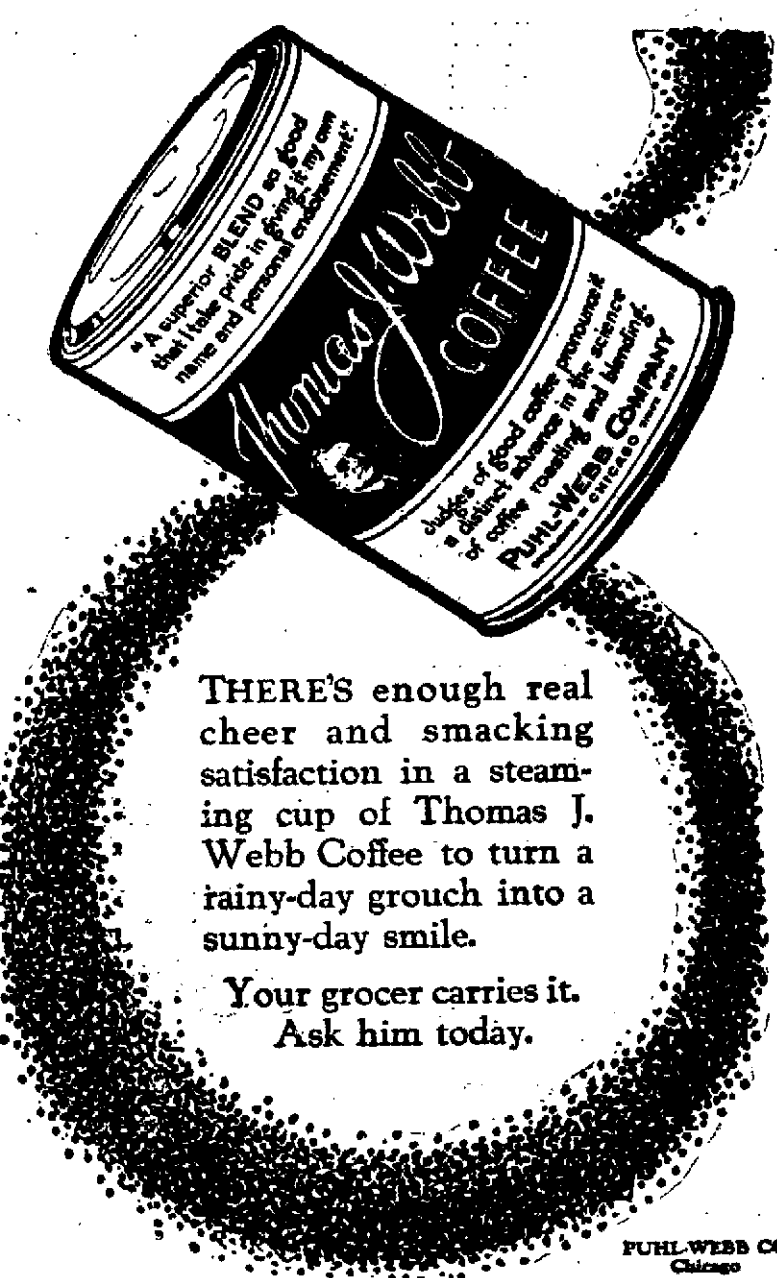

FOR INITIALS
When intialling handkerchiefs baste the corners of four of them together so they form a solid square. Then the embroidery rings can be put on them easily.

RED COVER
Red, a very bright red oil cloth, makes an unusually effective table covering for a dark corner. Usually the place for such a material is in the kitchen, but occasionally one sees it in studies and sitting rooms and in the dull light the effect is really quite lovely.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED
You will introduce a younger woman to an elder, rather than vice versa.
You will always make it a point to see that all of your guests are introduced to each other.
You will rise when introduced to a person older than yourself.

After Britton's Crown

From across the water comes another European title champion seeking new fields to conquer.

Pete Hobin is the latest arrival. He lays claim to the welterweight title of Europe.

Hobin is a Belgian. His home is at Antwerp. He is 23 years old, weighs 146 pounds when not in training and is only 5 feet 5 inches tall.

The European title holder is unquestionably the shortest welterweight in the world.

However, what he lacks in height he makes up in breadth. He is on the type of Bob Moha, who in the old days was known as the "cave man" of the middleweight division.

Like Georges Carpentier, Hobin was an aviator in the late unpleasant war with Germany. He wore the colors of his native land, Belgium.

Hobin comes to this country unheralded. Georges Carpentier was widely received, made the hero of the hour, and carried with him the well wishes of many an American in his fight with Dempsey.

Unlike Carpentier, Hobin has slipped into our fair country almost unknown. However, he may meet with much better success than the much touted Georges.

Hobin has taken part in 36 bouts during his ring career. He has never been knocked out. On five occasions he has lost the decision. In turn, he has knocked 47 of his opponents.

Hobin comes to this country to seek a bout with Jack Dempsey. He is modest in his claims and feels that before camping on the trail of Britton he should prove to the American public that he is a worthwhile contender.

If Hobin makes good it is his intention to remain in this country and become an American citizen.

PETE HOBIN

Hobin has one thought on boxing that is sure to make a hit in this country.

He never lets his opponent stay in the ring. That accounts for half of his bouts ending in knockouts.

Spring Training Gossip

By Billy Evans

The college, amateur and semi-pro players are going to get a big chance in the training camps this year.

The failure to get the minors to agree to a universal draft plan is the cause. Having their field curtailed, the major league magnates have invaded the ranks of the collegians, amateurs and semi-pros.

The remarkable success achieved by Frankie Friesch of Fordham college as a member of the Giants, has caused the major league magnates to give considerable attention to the collegian. In the spring every important college game has its full quota of scouts.

The Cleveland club has found the college a worthwhile institution for developing major league talent. University of Alabama has sent some worthy timber to Manager Speaker. Joe Sewell, now rated a star shortstop, got his start there. Second baseman Stephenson and Catcher Luke Sewell are also Alabama alumni.

In the preliminary work this spring much interest will center around Glen Killinger with the New York Yankees and Johnny Mohardt of Notre Dame, who goes with Detroit.

It is a rather interesting fact that Killinger and Mohardt were two of the most talked about football players in the country last fall. Killinger was given a place on Walter Camp's All-America eleven. Mohardt was so honored by many other football critics.

Johnny Mohardt is a pitcher. Mohardt is evidently a very bright young man. He has brains as rated in college. If he can apply them to the ball field, he will have an additional advantage.

In college football and baseball, Mohardt is regarded as the best field man in the country. He had few equals at hurling the forward pass. In baseball he was rated one of the best college pitchers in the country. He also won his letter in track.

NIAGARA MILL ATHLETES BEAT KIMBERLY TEAMS

Visitors Take Basketball and Volleyball Matches in Sports Carnival

Athletes of the Niagara mill of the Kimberly-Clark Co. took both ends of a double athletic bill from the Kimberly mill players in the annual sport carnival of Kimberly-Clark Co., employees Monday night in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

The Niagara volleyball team defeated the Kimberly outfit in three straight games 15-12, 15-14 and 15-13. The winning aggregation was composed of Stridde, Vaughtier, Armstrong, Knickerbocker, Hoffman and Johnson. The losing team was composed of Fourness, Franke, Young, Sencenbrenner, Poppe and Smith.

Playing a fast and furious brand of basketball the Niagara quintet defeated the Kimberly five 20 to 19, in the main event of the big carnival. The Niagara cagers started with a rush and outplayed the Kimberly tossers in the first half, finishing the period on the long end of a 11 to 7 count.

Both teams fought hard in the second half with the Kimberly aggregation having a little the better of the argument. The Kimberly five started a rally after five minutes of the period had been played and gradually cut down the Niagara lead until with three minutes to go the score was tied, 19 to 19. With less than two minutes to play a foul was called on a Kimberly tosser and Nabbefeld made the free throw count the deciding point of the struggle. Neither team was able to score in the remainder of the contest.

The summary follows:

Niagara	Kimberly
F. Kelly	Loose, 2
F. Johnson	Boetichor, 1
C. Forgetto	Anderson, 3
G. Vango	Bloomer, 3
G. Nabbefeld	Dunn, 3
Substitutions	Dahl, 1 for Kelly, Kelly for Dahl, Floto for Dunn.
Field goals	Johnson 1, Forgetto, 3; Vango, 1; Loose, 2; Anderson, 1; Bloomer, 2; Floto, 3.
Free throws	Nabbefeld, 3; Loose, 3.
Referee	Denny.

WRESTLING MATCHES

In a wrestling meet between Lawrence college freshmen grapplers and Kimberly mills mat stars the Kimberly athletes won the matches, lost one and secured a draw in one. In the 120 pound class Hawks of Lawrence threw Novak of Kimberly in two minutes with a body hold. Lamers of Kimberly received a decision over Pulson of Lawrence after seven minutes of grappling at the 140 pound class. Ristaw of Kimberly pinned Kings of Lawrence with a head lock after six minutes of wrestling in the 155 pound class. Mantee of Kimberly and Packard of Lawrence, heavyweights went seven minutes to a draw. Lyle Blackburn was the referee.

HILL WORKS HARD FOR MAT CONTEST

Appleton Man Meets Tough and Fast Wrestler in Armory G Friday Night

George Hill, Appleton grappler, settled down to the hard training grind Monday for his match with Herman Hackenschmidt of Beaver City, Neb. in the main event of a wrestling show to be staged Friday night in Armory G by the Mid West Athletic Club.

Hill went on the road for a five mile run Monday morning and worked in Alexander gymnasium Monday afternoon with a corps of wrestling partners.

Hill is working for speed and endurance. Hackenschmidt is a fast and tricky mat artist who knows all the points of the wrestling game. He is aggressive and clamps on and grips with lightning like speed and the Appleton man intends to be prepared to meet the Nebraska athlete at his own game.

Hackenschmidt has been making rapid strides toward the front in the last few years as one of the best heavyweights in the country. He has given Lewis, Zyszkow, Stoicher and Caddock hard struggles and has defeated every other grappler he has met. He is coming to Appleton confident he will be able to pin Hill's shoulders to the mat in straight falls and says that following his match with the local man he will challenge Lewis for a battle for the world's heavyweight title.

Both teams are keyed up to the fighting pitch and a bitter struggle is expected. The old Lawrence-Ripon rivalry, increased by the importance of the game, will make the contest a real battle from start to finish and the quintets are sure to go at top speed from the first tip-off until the final whistle.

Coach McChesney drove his men hard every afternoon last week with the result they are in excellent physical condition and fit for a grueling struggle. The team work is much improved over that shown in the Carroll game two weeks ago and the forwards have their eyes trained on the basket. Coach McChesney has announced his lineup to start the game as follows:

QUICKEST PAIN KILLER

The agony of lumbago, gout, rheumatism, neuralgia, neuritis—can be quickly overcome by good old hot

APPLETON HIGH TO COMPETE IN BIG CAGE MEET

Orange and Blue Quintet Entered in Oshkosh Normal Prep Tournament

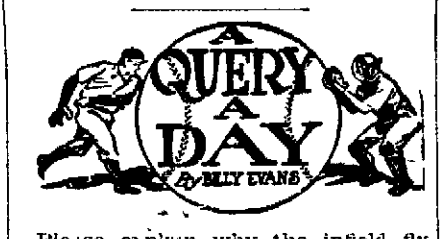

Coming through the game with the Manitowoc High school tossers last Friday night in fine shape and with every man on the squad in top condition, Appleton high school basketball tossers started practice Monday afternoon for the sectional 'tournament to be held in the Oshkosh Normal gymnasium on March 16, 17 and 18.

The Orange and Blue quintet was chosen as one of the eight strongest teams in this section of the state and received an invitation Monday to compete in the sectional classic. The winner of the Oshkosh tournament will compete against winners of the other sections in the state meet to be held in Madison late this month.

Coach Vincent intends to send his athletes along easy for a few days to keep them on edge, their team work up to form and their eyes trained on the hoop. He will start driving them at top speed late in the week and continue the strenuous work Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. Barring accidents the Appleton team will have its full strength for the tourney.

No announcement has been made in Appleton as to the other teams to compete in the sectional tournament. However, it is certain that Fond du Lac and Oshkosh will be entered. Appleton, Fond du Lac and Oshkosh appear to be the strongest quintets in this section of the state and the championship will probably be fought out between these teams. However, another quintet may show unexpected strength and cop the sectional title.

Fond du Lac and Appleton have met twice this season, each winning one game. Appleton defeated Oshkosh in the only contest between the two teams this season and Oshkosh has taken two struggles from Fond du Lac.

Please explain why the infield fly rule does not apply with only first base occupied.

The infield fly rule was made to protect the base runner. It was discovered before the rule was made that with first and second, or first and third, or second and third, or second and fourth, or third and fourth, it was always possible to make a double play on a fly ball to the infield.

Under such conditions the base runner, to prevent being doubled up if the ball was caught, was compelled to stick close to his base. Such being the case, by purposely dropping the ball or tripping it, the infielder always had a couple of easy force plays in front of him.

However, with only first base occupied, there is never a chance to make a double play on a fly ball hit to the infield if the runner holds his base and the batter runs out his hit.

As such a time there is no demand for protection for the runner, hence the rule does not apply with a runner on first only and less than two out.
